Cocktail event - stories that write life, a special kind of cocktail event

What does a cocktail have to do with Admiral Nelson's naval victory over Napoleon in 1805? Why do people in England drink gin from Holland with tonic water? Why do pirates like Captain Henry Morgan demand a bottle of rum? Cocktails, long drinks, spirits - they all tell stories, because they have arisen from the situations of real people. We take you into the events behind various cocktails and lead you into a world of stories and taste experiences. You will mix every cocktail you present yourself and for the grand finale you will create your own personal cocktail compositions from a variety of ingredients which you will present to your team as a "newcomer".
